Techno Security Brand Relocating Fall Event to Denver for 2020

February 25, 2020 – The COMEXPOSIUM Group announced today the debut of a new location for the Techno Security & Digital Forensics Conference brand to take place October 26-28, 2020 at the Hilton Denver City Center, Denver, Colorado. This event is a change of location for the brand’s Fall event, previously held in San Antonio, Texas. The brand, whose flagship event will host its 22nd edition in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina this year, also holds a California edition, located this year in San Diego.

The move from Texas to Colorado for Techno Security & Digital Forensics Conference comes as a result of feedback from sponsors and attendees following three years of steady attendance in San Antonio. Looking for a city that would provide more growth in the Central corridor of the United States, the brand selected Denver to host cybersecurity and digital forensics professionals who would not otherwise be able to take advantage of the education and networking in the event’s other two locations. Cybersecurity and digital forensics is a growing field with an ever-increasing need for more training, education and access to suppliers in all regions.

“Colorado is home to five major military installments, the Rocky Mountain Regional Computer Forensics Lab, is also a national hub for cybersecurity with the National Cybersecurity Intelligence Center located in Colorado Springs,” stated Steve Corrick, Chief Executive Officer, Comexposium North America. “Denver is easily accessible to both regional attendees in the surrounding states, and also via direct flights from all major airport hubs and US cities.”

These events will continue to be an important resource for IT security professionals granting an opportunity for discussion and information, while bringing together the industry’s leading decision makers with the aim to raise international awareness of developments, teaching, responsibilities and ethics in the field of cybersecurity and digital forensics.
